Photomontage

Electric locomotive 1616 of the Deutsche Bahn (DB Cargo Nederland).

- Version without air conditioning
- With the ceremonial name Oldenzaal
- Pantograph with innovative attachment
- Many separately applied plug-in parts, some of which are etched
- Headlight/tail light switchable with a DIP switch

With the merger of Dutch freight operations into the German Railion Group, DB AG acquired several electric locomotives from the NS 1600 series. In 2012, ten of these units were painted in traffic red livery during scheduled maintenance. At the initiative of several train drivers, the last three locomotives were decorated with farewell messages to mark the end of their service with DB Cargo NL in 2020.
